ADVANTAGES OF ALUMNI

Broader Professional Network and Links

The primary aim of the DGWP Institute Alumni Association is to assist former students in discovering job opportunities and enhancing their prospects of securing a job offer while providing chances to broaden a graduate's professional network. Career fairs, for instance, gather employers from the local area and occasionally beyond, allowing graduates to connect with company representatives in person. Career guidance, workshops, online seminars, and networking gatherings can offer valuable insights regarding employment opportunities.

Access to College Resources after Graduation:

Along with career services, alumni associations can offer a range of resources to support graduates after finishing their studies. This may involve availability of library resources, comprehensive journal and periodical databases, and additional educational facilities on campus, like specific labs and apparatus. Graduates are able to utilize the college library, Computer Lab, Digital Resources, and Infrastructure at no charge for their preparation for competitive exams.

Communication with Peers:

Connecting with former classmates can serve as another advantage of being part of an alumni association. Whether it results in a job opportunity or merely allows for reconnecting with old friends and contacts, graduates will gain from alumni directories and online social media groups that maintain communication long after the caps and gowns have been taken off.

Engage with Instructors/Parent Divisions:

Connecting with fellow alumni can uncover career and social opportunities, but reestablishing ties with former professors can also provide a multitude of opportunities. This is especially accurate for research, since numerous professors at colleges and universities are involved in various forms of academic study. Graduates might engage with professors in their discipline to acquire valuable experience or assistance regarding a specific research subject.

Interacting with others:

Alumni organizations aren't solely focused on business. They provide numerous opportunities to engage in social gatherings, including mixers, happy hours, and galas as
